Today I achieved an incredible 31-day streak on most of the LinkedIn games and a 7-day streak on the new one which has only been out for 9 days.
Using the scores below (I'm putting them in the post exactly like that but without the timestamps from the messages), how can I do a post on LinkedIn which begins by talking about consistency in work:

[20/08, 17:21] Hasan Akhtar: Queens #477 | 0:48
First 👑s:
I achieved Icon status today, that's a 31 day win streak!
I'm also smarter than 95% of CEOs today!

Here's a LinkedIn post idea that opens with a strong reflection on consistency, then smoothly transitions into your achievements with the LinkedIn games. It's designed to be punchy, professional, and a little playful—just like your editing style:

Consistency isn't just a buzzword—it's a strategy.
Whether it's content creation, career growth, or cognitive training, showing up daily builds more than habits. It builds momentum.

Today marks a personal milestone:
31-day win streak across multiple LinkedIn games
7-day streak on the newest release (Mini Sudoku), which only launched 9 days ago

These games aren't just fun—they're daily mental reps. And the stats speak for themselves:

Queens #477 | 0:48
First s:
Icon status (31-day streak)
Smarter than 95% of CEOs
lnkd.in/queens

Mini Sudoku #9 | 2:38
Champion status (7-day streak)
Top 75% of all players
lnkd.in/minisudoku

Zip #156 | 0:08 and flawless
With no backtracks
Icon status (31-day streak)
Smarter than 99% of CEOs
lnkd.in/zip

Tango #317 | 0:44
Icon status (31-day streak)
